You Don't Need Sight to Have Vision Believe, Be Bold, Become

Nancy Solari has a Bachelor of Arts with a double major in broadcasting and psychology, worked for Good Morning America and Entertainment Tonight, was a successful Realtor in California, and is currently a thriving business owner of Living Full Out. What makes Nancy Solari truly unique? All of her remarkable success has been achieved despite being legally blind.

At the age of sixteen, Nancy was diagnosed with Retinitis Pigmentosa and over the years, she has experienced subtle, yet measurable, vision loss. Rather than letting this news dissuade her, Nancy chose to persevere and excel, and is now a guide for others desiring to overcome their obstacles. Nancy Solari is an authentic and positive example of how anyone can live their best life with an empowered and optimistic mind-set, regardless of the challenges they face. Each of Nancy's adversities has given her unique insights and new tools for approaching and solving problems.

Nancy Solari has a life coaching degree from IPEC and launched her company, Living Full Out, in 2008, which focuses on helping others to reach their full potential. Nancy also hosts the national radio show, Living Full Out with Nancy Solari, that attracts thousands of participants from all over the country. Nancy is an exciting, engaging, and sought-after motivational speaker, trainer, and consultant.
